The image shows a screenshot of a chess software interface. On the left is a large chessboard with a wooden texture. The board is labeled with letters A-H and numbers 1-8. The pieces are arranged in a specific position: White pieces are on squares d4, e4, f3, g3, h2, h3, h4, h5, h6, h7, h8, e8, f8, g8, h8. Black pieces are on squares a8, b8, c8, d8, e8, f8, g8, h8, a7, b7, c7, d7, e7, f7, g7, h7, a6, b6, c6, d6, e6, f6, g6, h6, a5, b5, c5, d5, e5, f5, g5, h5, a4, b4, c4, d4, e4, f4, g4, h4, a3, b3, c3, d3, e3, f3, g3, h3, a2, b2, c2, d2, e2, f2, g2, h2, a1, b1, c1, d1, e1, f1, g1, h1. A white pawn on d4 is highlighted with a green square. The software has a menu bar with 'File', 'Home', 'Board', 'Training', and 'View'. Below the menu bar are several toolbars with icons for 'Paste Position', 'Copy Game', 'Copy Position', 'Clipboard', 'Undo', 'Redo', 'New Game', 'Default', 'Add', 'Remove', 'Engine Management', 'Load Previous', 'Load Next', 'Create UCI Engine', and 'Database'. On the right side, there is a video window titled 'Chess Media System' showing a man sitting at a desk with a microphone. Below the video window is a control bar with 'Nochmal', a timer '0:00:28 0:00:56', and playback controls. Below the video window is a text area with the text 'Byrne,Donald - Fischer,Robert James D97 New York Rosenwald 1956 [Reeh,Oliver?]' and '11.1g5'. At the bottom left, there is a small text 'D97: Grünfeld Russian System: 7.g4, replies other than 7...Bg4'. At the bottom right, there is a progress bar showing '100%'.
